

Study Tours to Scotland

Mindstretchers[®]

Experiencing another culture and seeing best practice can be exactly what you need to develop the way that you work with children in your setting. To help you to develop, every year Mindstretchers in association with Claire Warden hosts a study tour. Our study tour will help you learn how to encourage children to lead their own learning and how to incorporate nature into your practice. Engage in discussions about engaging children in the nature movement, observe nature-based programs, hear first-hand about emerging trends, network with national and international colleagues and leave feeling inspired by Scotland.

General Format

- A visit to our award winning centre of excellence Auchlone Nature Kindergarten
- External visits to other educational centres across Scotland looking at best practice
- Site visits to Scottish cultural and historical centres for context behind the learning
- Presentations, practical workshops, lectures and sessions with Mindstretchers trainers
- Networking opportunities with international colleagues and the chance to share your own experiences
- Welcome dinner, all breakfasts and lunches, and leaving dinner.

Testimonials

"I've gotten out of my comfort zone and have been reignited!"

"The networking and ideas from all the other educators on the study trip was great! Invaluable opportunities for early childhood learning with like minded people from around the world."

"The time on this study tour with my team gave us all the space to deeply reflect on what we do and why we do it and ask ourselves if that reflects what we believe and want for our children. We were able to set some big picture goals while away and have begun taking steps towards those goals that we made!"
